

MORNING APPEAL.

FRIDAY, JUNE 29, 1877

THE SPLENDID COURAGE OF THE REPUBLICANS OF IOWA.

The heart of the Republican party still beats high! The soul of its valor still lives and will not die! At Des Moines, Iowa, where, in 1875 General Grant thrilled the country by his speech sounding the alarm against Catholic aggressions upon our school system, the Republicans of that banner State of Republicanism have just been holding a convention. Hon. James F. Wilson of Jefferson county presided. He stated, significantly, that there would be no dissension in the convention, "but the Iowa standard of Republicanism would not be lowered or its flag trailed in the dust." This convention illustrated the splendor of its courage and the loftiness of its purposes by such expressive work as is indicated in the following:

The committee on resolutions reported the following:

First—That the United States of America is a nation, not a league; that by the combined workings of National and State governments the rights of every citizen should be secured, and that to fail to do this is a criminal neglect of duty.

Second—The Republican party has preserved the government, and its work is unfinished.

Third—The permanent pacification of the South and complete protection of all citizens in the free enjoyment of all their rights is a duty to which the Republican party stands sacredly pledged. Congress is constitutionally empowered to enforce the principles of the recent constitutional amendments, and it is the solemn duty of the legislative and executive departments to put in immediate and vigorous exercise all their constitutional powers for removing any just cause of complaint of any class, and to secure all American citizens exact equality in the exercise of all their rights, and we therefore demand of Congress and the President courage and fidelity which shall not falter until the results are placed beyond dispute or recall.

The public credit should be sacredly maintained, and the debts paid, and we therefore favor speedy resumption.

Fourth—The silver dollar having been a legal tender to the amount of its value from the foundation of the Federal government until 1873, the law under which its coinage was suspended should be repealed at the earliest possible day, and silver made, with gold, a legal tender for the payment of all debts, both public and private. We also believe that the present volume of currency should be maintained until the wants of trade and commerce demand its further contraction.

The other resolutions are local in character. Risley attempted, amid great uproar, hisses and shouts, to get in an amended resolution indorsing the President's policy, but the chair ruled it not germane. Another attempt was made by another member with no better success, and all the resolutions were then adopted seriatim.

Mr. Cutts then moved the adoption of the following:

Resolved, That the so-called Southern policy which has been inaugurated and pursued by the present National Administration is in accord with the principles of the Republican party.

This was received amid general tumult. Dr. Beardsley of Des Moines county moved that it be referred to the committee on resolutions. Mr. Merriam of Keokuk county moved, amid great excitement, that it be tabled. Adopted by a three-quarter vote.

They have the courage of their opinions—have the Republicans of Iowa. They mean by these resolutions to say that they are not willing to acknowledge that the course of Radical Republicanism has been so wrong as that its slaughter in the presence of the world and its sacrifice upon the altar of the Lost Cause is necessary. They repudiate this idea. It is not acceptable to them even though it be presented and championed by the President of the United States elected by Republican votes. In plainer terms, the Republicans of Iowa tell President Hayes that they are not willing that even he should place them second to his friends of the household of Dolly Varden. This, then, is a proof that the Republican party has a heart, a courage, a sense of self-respect, a purpose and a future. Not any Republican has any right to think of disbanding, dispersion or surrender. Iowa has met the issue of Hayesism with resolution and loyalty to principle. The MORNING APPEAL has something to fight for. It speaks the voice of true Republicanism. We believe that the Republicans of Nevada will respond with hearty voice to their brethren upon the banks of the Mississippi—where they lay upon the table a resolution endorsing the pusillanimous policy of the contemptible hypocrite who occupies the White House. We believe this because we believe that the party in this State is not going to repudiate its history, its performances and its professions. We believe it because we feel assured the party here will heartily second the resolution above quoted. That "The Republican Party has preserved the government and its work is unfinished." We believe it because we believe in Northern manhood, and that it will prompt each patriotic heart to repudiate with scorn the unmanly and dishonest policy of the present administration.

Of a plenteous stock of the rhino, the Elko Independent of Tuesday says:

The train from the west last evening brought and delivered here 80 boxes of silver, each box containing $1000. The coin is for distribution among the employees of the company, in payment of wages. It is understood that the full amount due will be paid in silver alone, which in view of the fact that not over $5 in coin, in one payment will be received in that metal by the company is, to say the least, generous.

Observer John Healy of the Signal Service U. S. A. has leased a room in the new hotel, and is arranging his instruments so as to have them in condition to take observations on the 1st of July and daily thereafter. An observatory is being built on the roof of the hotel and a shelter on the side of the building for some of the instruments.

We find the foregoing in the Silver State of Wednesday. Of course the officers at the head of the Signal Service are entitled to be thought the most competent to manage and the best acquainted with the requirements of their own affairs. But here, in Carson, is a more extensive and better appointed weather observatory than can be found on this coast, save in San Francisco. We have reference to Mr. Friend's observatory. He has the best transit instrument west of St. Louis; his observatory is provided (at his own expense) with an anemometer, with recording thermometers, with the finest of barometers, etc., etc. Now why could not the Signal Service accord this observatory the compliment of an official recognition? It has had its services gratis, for a long time. In establishing permanent stations we cannot understand why this one should be so conspicuously left out.

Paul Cassagnac has created a sensation in France by recommending, through the press, that if the new Chamber of Deputies should prove as strongly Republican as the one just dissolved, it should be disbanded by a sort of movement similar to "Pride's Purge" of the Cromwellian era. It seems quite evident that MacMahon and the Bonapartists are very strongly colloquial and that they mean to make sure that Gambetta and his political allies and friends shall not return to power in France. The incongruity of the present form of government is to be found in MacMahon's incumbency of the Presidential office. He is no more a just representative of the republican idea than his old master, Louis Napoleon; and it is to be suspected that himself is the prompter of Cassagnac's feeler.

A man who has undertaken a contract in Foot and Walker's Line is the subject of the following notice in the Elko Independent of Tuesday:

Charles Dido, the reporterial pedestrian, who, on a $500 wage, is heading it from Ogden, Utah, to Sacramento, arrived here at 2:50 P. M. Sunday, 27 days out. According to terms of the bet, the distance—743 miles—is to be made in 20 days, Sundays excepted, being on an average a little over 37 miles per day. Dido is connected with the New York Sun, and the other party to the bet is Prescott of the Chicago Tribune. The former was for a long time employed by the Government as an interpreter and scout among the Sioux, where he claims to have acquired the ability to accomplish great distances on foot in an unusually short space of time. On reaching here the walkist was something over 25 miles ahead of time, and appeared in a condition to step over to the Pacific without starting a hair. He had credentials from the section bosses along the route thus far to prove that he wasn't riding brake-bars, and judging from the development of his muscles, we are inclined to the opinion that he'll get "thar" on time if his foot don't slip nor the savages of Reno scalp him.

"Paradise Alarmed" is the startling headline of an item in the Silver State. The commotion is caused by the threatened invasion of these precincts by the Devil of the red variety. That paper says:

From T. H. Wayne, proprietor of the Winnemucca and Paradise Valley stage line, who arrived in town last evening, we learn that the people of Paradise Valley, particularly those on the outside settlement, are very much alarmed about the Indians. Fears are entertained that a roving band of red skins will attack the ranchers in isolated settlements, and these fears have been heightened by the fact that the Indians stole some horses from James Byrnes ranch last Sunday night. Settlers are arming themselves so as to be prepared, in the event of an attack, to defend themselves and their property. It is known that there are bands of Indians over which Winnemucca and Naches have no control, and the peace protestations of those chiefs is no guarantee that those bands will not commence depredations.

Your Reno thief is an impudent rascal. Vide the following from Tuesday's Gazette:

Last night while the fire was raging Mrs. Peacock set two chests out in the alley, apart from the other property, that they might be especially safe. Some time after she discovered a man taking things out of the chest. She remonstrated with him but he coolly informed her that they belonged to him and that he intended to transfer them to another place. Fortunately, Geo. Avery came along and collaring the scoundrel marched him to the jail. Avery recognized him as the man which, a few hours before, he drove from McClellan's barn.

Of a spiritual seance at Austin, the Reveille of Monday says:

A man who said he was an "Injun fighter from the ground up" walked up to the bar in a Main street saloon this morning, and told the barkeeper to "set out the lightning." The barkeeper referred him to the telegraph office. The man said he had never tried it, but it had been the ambition of his life to lick a barkeeper but when the tumbler-slinger reached under the bar and took out two whistler six-shooters and a club, the Indian fighter said he did not mean a polite, gentlemanly barkeeper, but one of those fellows who wore paste diamonds and parted their hair in the middle. His apology was considered sufficient.

A petition is circulating in Humboldt county for the commutation of the sentence of Harry Huff to imprisonment for life.

Thomas Nelson who shot and killed a German at his sheep ranch on the Humboldt River last Saturday, has undergone an examination and been discharged.

THE STATE UNIVERSITY.

Concerning the State University and its present condition the Elko Independent of June 27th says:

From D. R. Sessions, Principal of the State University, we received a polite invitation to attend the examination at that Institution yesterday, of which privilege we gladly availed ourselves, and were amply rewarded for the time consumed in listening to the exercises, by the pleasure experienced in witnessing the notable improvement and marked progress which has been made by the pupils during the past six months. Mr. Sessions is devoting himself most assiduously to the task before him, a convincing earnest of which is strikingly manifested in the very rapid and flattering advancement made in the various branches of learning by the students under his charge. The difficulties encountered in establishing a school of this class in this country were necessarily both numerous and complicated, but through the persevering industry of Mr. Sessions, by far the most formidable have been overcome, and the institution so advanced in point of educational advantages as to reflect credit upon the State and to assert the wisdom of its establishment. Being prevented from attending at the opening of the examination, we were only present during a portion of the time devoted to a review of the study of the Constitution of the United States, and the promptness with which any and all questions relating to the subject were properly answered, was conclusive evidence of a thorough understanding of the principles embodied in that famous instrument.
